

Free2move eSolutions and ChargeGuru Join Forces to Accelerate and Promote Electric Mobility in Europe

Milan-Paris, 22 October 2024 – Free2move eSolutions, a leader in eMobility solutions born as a joint-venture between Stellantis and NHOA, and preferred partner of Free2move Charge – Stellantis 360° charging ecosystem, has joined forces with ChargeGuru, a European specialist in installation services for charging infrastructure. Today, both companies offer the installation and provision of advanced charging solutions in France, Germany, Italy, Spain, and Portugal.

As the world transitions toward zero-emission transportation, Free2move eSolutions and ChargeGuru are committed to not only improving access to top-tier charging technologies but also supporting efforts toward sustainable mobility.

ChargeGuru, as a certified installer partner, is managing the advisory and installation processes of Free2move eSolutions charging hardware, including home solutions like easyWallbox, and eProWallbox Move, and as well as advanced fleet solutions like eProWallbox, among others. These solutions address all charging needs for both Private and Business customers. This collaboration marks a pivotal step in accelerating the adoption of electric vehicles (EVs) while making a significant contribution to a more sustainable and eco-friendly future.

The collaboration offers turnkey services that includes:

- Site survey: ChargeGuru conducts remote or in-person surveys of customer locations to determine optimal installation setups.
- Custom quotations: Tailored quotations to ensure customers receive a solution that meets their specific requirements.
- Installation: Installation services by a qualified team of technicians, with deep knowledge on Free2move eSolutions charging solutions, ensuring safe and efficient setup of charging infrastructure.

Leading the Charge in Large-Scale EV Infrastructure

The partnership between Free2move eSolutions and ChargeGuru has already demonstrated success with the installation of 600 eProWallbox Move units at 5 Administrações Regionais de Saúde (ARS) and 7 Unidades Locais de Saúde (ULS), all under the Ministry of Health in Portugal. This large-scale project, awarded to Stellantis following a competitive public tender, underscores the significant environmental and social impact of deploying EV charging infrastructure on a national level. By supporting the healthcare sector's transition to electric vehicles, Free2move eSolutions and ChargeGuru are not only improving mobility but also contributing to a healthier planet.

"We are thrilled to have ChargeGuru as a trusted partner for the installation of our charging stations across Europe. Their expertise and commitment to customer satisfaction align perfectly with our mission to make electric mobility accessible and seamless. Together, we will break down barriers and accelerate the shift to zero-emission mobility" said Mathilde Lheureux, CEO of Free2move eSolutions.

"This partnership highlights the companies' shared vision of making sustainable mobility a reality by providing essential charging infrastructure that enables the shift away from fossil fuels. We're proud to driving change for a greener tomorrow in 5 countries in Europe" said Nicolas Banchet, cofounder of ChargeGuru.
